

Player Evaluation Philosophy

Team work, development, focus, hard work, competition and most importantly "fun". These are a few words that best describe the values of The Chicago Hawk's Hockey Club.

We hold these values with high regard in all strategic decisions made for the organization. Our player evaluation process is one that we take very seriously. Our club is committed to advancement of each player and with this commitment comes a responsibility to assure they are placed on the most appropriate team based on their ability.

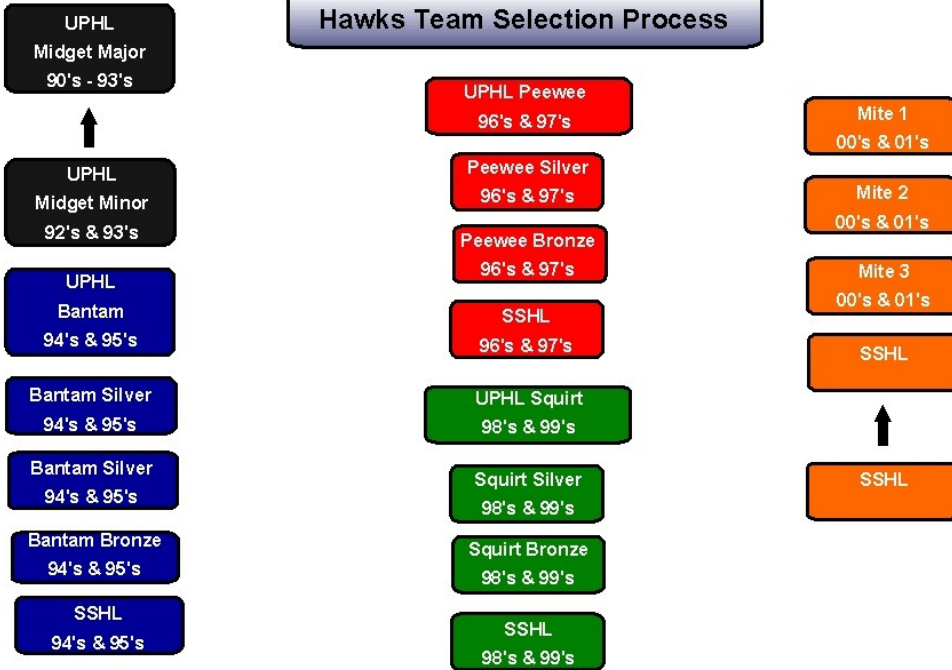

Our evaluation (tryout) process is administered by our Hockey Director and for fair and accurate consideration of every player he is assisted by the Level Director at each respective level. Our coaches selection criteria encompasses the player's overall hockey ability, previous coach evaluations and their performance throughout the tryout session.

Teams are constructed based off of skill and ability, rather than solely on age. Quality of play and the capacity to flourish will be the largest determining factor on which team the player makes.

Hawks Team Selection Process

All UPHL Major teams will be selected from the elite players of that division. The next group of players will be selected for the silver team regardless of age and so on until all the teams are selected. We will not have teams distinguished by birth year this season rather we will keep the same format that the Hawks have used in the past.
