Youth Alcohol & Drug Program

The Youth Alcohol & Drug Program (YADP) is an effort to reduce alcohol and drug abuse in the Stillwater area. It is working to:

- Provide a Chemical Health Prevention Specialist in schools for direct counseling of at-risk students, for support of their parents and protection of their school environment.
- Develop and fund after-school activities for youth to reduce unstructured, high-risk free time.
- Coordinate mentoring by adults, for at-risk youth.
- Support a chemical health curriculum in the Stillwater community.
- Change community norms, attitudes and culture through group support, referrals and outreach, especially to parents.

The YADP was originated by Sunrise Rotary Club and introduced through a community wide meeting. That meeting attracted a dedicated group of parents, teachers, regulatory, agency and business leaders who formed a steering committee which is now carrying the program forward; holding meetings, keeping Stillwater citizens informed and enlisting specialists and consultants, as needed, to round out a long-term program which will benefit the Stillwater area by protecting its youth.

The group is educational and supportive.

For all parents and guardians in the Stillwater area with questions or concerns about their children's alcohol and other drug use.

Have you ever wondered.....

- I found pot in my son's drawer; now what?
- What if my kid decides to drink on prom night?
- Are "all" the kids trying it like my teenager says?
- What kind of drugs are available to my child?
- What is a "minor"?
- What will happen if my child gets a DWI?
- What are the signs of chemical and alcohol use?
- What about parents who allow drinking?
- Does my child need treatment?
