Coaching Philosophy

I believe that skill development and teaching the fundamental skills of the game are most important. Game strategy and tactics are required and will be taught. My goal as a coach is to help every player with fitness level, skill development, game preparation, and respect. My plan is to teach all players to work hard in practice, play hard in games. I will help build character and confidence both on and off the ice. Teamwork will have the most emphasis because I believe that we can achieve more as a team than any of us could achieve individually.
