

Prime Time High School Sports

Prime Time High School Sports celebrates its 20th anniversary in the recruiting service industry as Craig Wind has been evaluating and promoting Michigan's finest basketball players with hundreds of college coaches around the United States of America since January of 1990.

Wind's recruiting service is a bit on the old-fashioned side of 21st century America – there is no website and ONLY the college coaches can pay for his services. As Wind likes to say, "The high school coaches, the players, their parents, and the AAU coaches ride for FREE along the way."

Wind has been influential in helping the West Michigan Lakers AAU out of Holland, Michigan in a variety of ways. He's constantly a source for Kevin Tringali and his staff to find new players and his work and efforts on the Rivals website www.michiganpreps.com from 2005 to 2009 to promote AAU in general and the Lakers program and the Tulip Tip Off Classic over the years has been legendary.

"Craig's efforts in the past 20 years to help players from MANY states find good fits at the collegiate level as not gone unnoticed," said Tringali. "He's helped many of the Michigan AAU clubs as well as the Lakers find good players and great kids and we appreciate his efforts. He's extremely well connected in college coaching circles and the publicity he's provided for our Laker program and events has been outstanding"

Wind now serves as the Commercial Marketing Director at Lakes Area Alarm and ADT out of Walled Lake, Michigan. ADT is the largest single provider of electronic services to more than six million commercial, governmental, and residential customers throughout North America. He would love to give you a FREE SECURITY ANALYSIS for your commercial and/or residential property.
