

GAMES FOR KIDS CANCER

My name is Joey Feldman. My sister, Nicole was diagnosed with Cancer (Melanoma) when she was 7 years old. After immediate treatment, including multiple surgical procedures we are fortunate that Nicole has been cancer free for over 4 years. The news of her diagnosis and treatment to follow was a very dramatic time for her and our family.

Unfortunately Cancer is the leading cause of death by disease among US children ages 0-15. Did you know that one in every 330 Americans will develop cancer before the age of 20, and there are over 11,000 kids diagnosed with Cancer each year? I am hoping to make the time for some of them during their treatment a little easier. On behalf of the Gabby Krause Foundation, who provides "Bags of Fun" for children during treatment of their cancers at Children's Hospital, PSL and other pediatric cancer centers in Colorado I am collecting video games and DVD movies to be given to these children in hopes of making a very difficult time in their young lives better for them and their families. The Mission of the Gabby Krause Foundation:

The Gabby Krause Foundation is a network of caring people who want to make a difference in the lives of children with cancer and other long-term illnesses. The signature project of the Foundation is Bags of Fun. Bags of Fun are filled with educational, interactive, and silly toys that give a child a better day, a smile, and something to focus on other than their illness. To parents carrying a heavy burden, the bags bring relief, joy, and a sense that someone understands. The Foundation was started to fulfill Gabby's wish that every child have a Bag of Fun.

Making a difference....

Vision Statement:

The mission of the Gabby Krause Foundation is to make a difference in the lives of children and their families who are faced with fighting cancer and other long-term childhood diseases.
