

The PYA HALL OF FAME

MARTY KRAMER

While growing up in Brooklyn, Marty honed a skill and love for sports with 3 varsity seasons of football and basketball at Abraham Lincoln High School. As he matriculated to the University of Missouri, he parlayed these experiences and played football for two years.

Some time after college, Marty and his wife Joan settled into Port Washington to raise their family. As their children Lori and Glenn grew, they became involved in many community activities. Marty is quick to comment how his children benefited greatly from their PYA playing days, and the pleasure he derived from his participation in our programs.

Appreciative of this, Marty chose to "give something back" to the youth of this town, starting with his knowledge of the finer techniques of football and basketball. For each sport, he served as coach for 4 years, and commissioner for 2 years as well. He also was a PYA board member from 1969 - 1975, and President in 1972 as the organization completed its first decade. It was during this period that PYA was maturing as an organization, as it sent its first large group of young athletes into successful high school sports programs. As Marty expanded his involvement, and looked for new and different challenges, he also coached lacrosse for five years.

Marty, now retired, and Joan live in Lantana, Florida. In addition to their 2 adult children, they have a grandson, Graham.
