USA Hockey, Inc., is the National Governing Body for the sport of hockey in the United States. As such, its mission is to promote the growth of hockey in America and provide the best possible experience for all participants by encouraging, developing, advancing and administering the sport.

Headquartered in Colorado Springs, Colo., USA Hockey is the official representative to the United States Olympic Committee (USOC) and the International Ice Hockey Federation (IIHF). In this role, USA Hockey is responsible for organizing and training men's and women's teams for international tournaments that include the IIHF World Championships and the Olympic Winter Games. USA Hockey also coordinates activities with other national hockey federations around the world and, closer to home, works with the National Hockey League (NHL) and the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) on matters of mutual interest.

With a membership of more than 560,000 ice and inline hockey players, coaches, officials and volunteers, USA Hockey's primary emphasis is on the support and development of grassroots hockey programs. USA Hockey is divided into 11 geographical districts throughout the United States. Each district has a registrar to register teams; a referee-in-chief to register officials and organize clinics; a coach-in-chief to administer educational programs for coaches; a risk manager to oversee liability and safety programs; and an initiation program administrator to facilitate learn-to-play programs for youth players and their parents.

For the player, USA Hockey annually conducts regional and national championship tournaments in various age classifications; sponsors regional and national player identification and development camps; studies and makes recommendations for protective equipment; distributes Hat Trick, Playmaker and Zero Club Awards; and provides an insurance program that includes excess accident, general liability and catastrophic coverage.

For coaches and officials, USA Hockey conducts clinics and produces training manuals and videos through the Coaching Education Program and the Officiating Education Program. These programs enrich the knowledge of coaches and officials through careful study, training and examination.

USA Hockey also promotes uniformity in playing rules and the interpretations of those rules.

USA Hockey has not forgotten parents, supplying this vital segment of the hockey family with a "Parent's Introduction To Youth Hockey" brochure, which includes tips on buying equipment, rules of the game and the role of parents in youth sports.

USA Hockey also publishes American Hockey Magazine, the main communication vehicle for the organization which is sent to the household of every registered member as a benefit of membership.

In December 1994, USA Hockey introduced its official inline hockey program — USA Hockey InLine — to provide structure and support for the growth of the sport across America. Through valuable membership packages which include standardized playing rules, competitive playing opportunities at the regional and national levels, and a variety of educational programs for players, coaches and officials, USA Hockey InLine is dedicated to providing a positive experience for all participants.

USA Hockey, the National Governing Body for the sport of hockey in the United States, has grown tremendously since 1990. Registration figures for every player category have risen dramatically since the beginning of the decade. Currently, USA Hockey's overall registration exceeds 560,000 ice and inline members and continues to grow every day.

One of the fastest-growing segments during the past decade has been girls' and women's membership:

 During the 1990-91 season, 6,336 female ice hockey players registered with USA Hockey. At the conclusion of the 199899 registration season, 33,639 girls and women were registered with the organization, marking a growth rate of more than 430% since the beginning of the decade. Overall USA Hockey registration (total players, coaches and officials) has more than doubled over the same period.

 The number of girls' and women's teams in the U.S. has grown from 149 in 1990-91 to 1,268 at the end of USA Hockey's 1998-99 registration season. The 1,119 new teams represent a growth rate of more than 750% since the beginning of the decade.

president WALTER L. BUSH, JR.

One of the most recognized and respected leaders in the sport of hockey, Walter L. Bush, Jr., has served as president of USA Hockey for more than a decade and has been a member of the organization's board of directors since 1959. Bush became president of USA Hockey in June 1986, following Wm. Thayer Tutt, who served as president from 1972-86, and Tom Lockhart, who was president from 1937-72.

In recognition of his 45 years of service to USA Hockey, the organization dedicated its national headquarters as The Walter L. Bush, Jr. Center in June 1999.

On the international level, Bush serves as one of 11 members of the International Ice Hockey Federation Council and, in June 1998, was re-elected to a second consecutive term as vice president of the IIHF. Bush is also active with numerous committees within the IIHF, having served as chairman of the IIHF Women's Ice Hockey Committee, the IIHF In-Line Hockey Committee, and the Selection Committee for the newly created IIHF Hall of Fame. As chairman of the IIHF Women's Ice Hockey Committee. Bush was instrumental in organizing the first IIHF Women's World Championship, which was held in 1990 in Ottawa, Ontario. He also led the successful charge that made women's ice hockey a medal sport in the Olympic Winter Games, beginning in 1998 in Nagano, Japan.

Bush has been involved in hockey virtually his entire life as a player, coach, manager, administrator and team owner. His hockey background includes having played at the high school, college and senior levels. His senior team won three Minnesota state championships and, from there, Bush became involved in team management. He managed the 1959 U.S.

National Team that participated in the IIHF World Championship in Prague, Czechoslovakia and, in 1964, served as general manager of the U.S. Olympic Team. Most recently, Bush served as special assistant to United States Olympic Committee President Bill Hybl for the U.S. Delegation at the XVIII Olympic Winter Games in Nagano, Japan.

Bush served as president of the Minnesota Amateur Hockey Association for three years and was owner and president of the minor-league Minneapolis Bruins from 1963-65. He later led a group of businessmen in securing a National Hockey League franchise — the Minnesota North Stars — for the Twin Cities area. He served as the North Stars' first president from 1967-76 and later became chairman of the board. Bush spent 17 years in the NHL working with a variety of committees. Bush remains active in professional hockey today as one of two principal owners of the American Hockey League's Kentucky Thoroughblades.

Bush is a member of the board of directors of the United States Olympic Committee and is secretary of the U.S. Olympic Foundation.

A recipient of numerous awards, Bush was honored with the NHL's Lester Patrick Award in 1973 in recognition of his outstanding service to ice hockey in the United States. He was enshrined in the U.S. Hockey Hall of Fame in 1980 and, in 1989, was elected to the Minnesota Sports Hall of Fame. He currently serves as a governor and vice-chairman for the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto, Ontario. Bush, who resides in Edina, Minn., is also a director and member of the selection committee for the U.S. Hockey Hall of Fame.

vice president, international council chair RON DEGREGORIO

Ron DeGregorio has been involved in the sport of hockey for more than 40 years as a player, coach, administrator and team owner. His first appointment with USA Hockey came in 1973 when he was named registrar for the New England District. As registrar, DeGregorio oversaw the reorganization of the district into several smaller, more manageable affiliates. He was also the first registrar to appoint associate registrars, which helped increase USA Hockey's efficiency and visibility at the local level.

DeGregorio was first elected to the USA Hockey Board of Directors in 1975 and was the organization's vice-president of youth hockey. In the 1980's, DeGregorio served as treasurer of USA Hockey. In June 1995, DeGregorio was elected to his current post as vice president and chairman of the USA Hockey International Council.

DeGregorio is known throughout Massachusetts as the originator of "Mini One-On-One," a youth ice hockey competition for boys and girls that is broadcast through the Boston Bruins' television network. At the professional level, DeGregorio is one of two principal owners of the American Hockey League's Kentucky Thoroughblades.

In addition to his responsibilities with USA Hockey, DeGregorio, who resides in Salem, N.H., is president of the PenFacs Group, an investment and insurance firm specializing in the design, administration and funding of executive benefit plans.

executive director DOUG PALAZZARI

Doug Palazzari was named executive director of USA Hockey on June 12, 1999, signaling yet another important milestone in a lifelong hockey career that has spanned the spectrum from player to coach to administrator.

As executive director of USA Hockey, Palazzari directs the day-to-day operations of a National Governing Body that provides programs and services to more than 560,000 ice and inline hockey players, coaches, officials and volunteers nationwide. Prior to being named executive director of USA Hockey, Palazzari had overseen the organization's Youth and Education Programs for the previous eight years, most recently as senior director. His duties provided extensive involvement with the USA Hockey Youth Council, Girls/Women Section and High School Section, as well as supervising the Coaching and Officiating Programs.

Palazzari's longtime involvement with USA Hockey dates back to the 1960's when his Eveleth, Minn. bantam team traveled more than 36 hours by bus to Lake Placid, N.Y., to compete in a National Championship tournament sanctioned by the Amateur Hockey Association of the United States — today known as USA Hockey.

Palazzari advanced from youth hockey to Colorado College, where he was a mainstay for the Tigers from 1970-74. He led Colorado College in scoring in both 1972 and 1974, earning NCAA All-America, First-Team All-Western Collegiate Hockey Association and WCHA Most Valuable Player honors during those same seasons.

Following his college career, Palazzari spent eight seasons (1974-82) playing professional hockey in the St. Louis Blues' system. He registered 38 points on 18 goals and 20 assists in 108 regular-season games in the National Hockey League, but made his greatest impact while playing for the Salt Lake City Golden Eagles of the Central Hockey League — the Blues' top minor league affiliate at the time. Palazzari was twice honored as the CHL's Most Valuable Player (1978 and 1980) and was tabbed as the league's All-Time Greatest Player by The Hockey News two years ago. He also received the AHAUS Outstanding Player Award in 1978 while playing for Salt Lake City.

Palazzari's international playing experience includes being selected as a member of the 1973 and 1974 U.S. National Teams that participated in the IIHF B Pool World Championship, helping Team USA capture first place in 1974. The diminutive forward also represented the United States in the inaugural Canada Cup tournament in 1976.

Palazzari has served in a coaching capacity for USA Hockey several times, most recently in 1991 as head coach for the U.S. Select 16 Team. He was an assistant coach for Team South at the U.S. Olympic Festival-'91, the 1989 U.S. Select 17 Team and for the teams that represented the U.S. at the 1987 Pravda Cup and the 1986 Calgary Cup.

Palazzari's coaching experience also includes six seasons (1985-91) as an assistant coach at Colorado College. He received a bachelor's degree in business administration from Colorado College in 1974.

Palazzari and his wife, Sara, reside in Colorado Springs and are the parents of two sons, Blake and Drew.

deputy executive director BRIAN PETROVEK

Brian Petrovek joined USA Hockey's national staff in June 1993 before being promoted to the newly created positions of deputy executive director of USA Hockey, and executive director of The USA Hockey Foundation.

As deputy executive director of USA Hockey, Petrovek assists Executive Director Doug Palazzari in managing the day-to-day operations of a National Governing Body that provides benefits, services and programs to more than 560,000 ice and inline hockey members nationwide.

In addition to directly overseeing many of the business-related and revenue-generating activities of USA Hockey, Petrovek oversees member-based programs such as USA Hockey InLine, the official inline hockey program of USA Hockey.

As executive director of The USA Hockey Foundation, a non-profit corporation that was established in 1989, Petrovek oversees all aspects of the Foundation. This includes fund-raising, development, grant administration, budget management, implementation of longrange plans, management of Foundation properties such as The Patty Kazmaier Memorial Award and The Dave Peterson Memorial Fund, and represents the Foundation to external constituencies.

In addition to his administrative responsibilities, Petrovek served as team leader for the United States team that captured the championship of the World Cup of Hockey in 1996. He was also team leader for the 1997 U.S. National Team and the 1998 U.S. Olympic Men's Ice Hockey Team.

Prior to joining USA Hockey, Petrovek served as vice president of marketing for the National Hockey League's New Jersey Devils from 1989-93. As a member of the front-office staff in New Jersey, Petrovek directed efforts related to sponsorship packages, event operations, season and group ticket sales, promotions and advertising. From 1987-89, Petrovek was executive director of the American Hockey League's Utica Devils, New Jersey's top minor league affiliate at the time, where he managed all aspects of the franchise and served as the team's alternate governor.

Before joining the Devils' organization, Petrovek worked in account management and new business development with two advertising agencies in Boston, Mass., from 1982-87. During that time, he was also Executive Director of the Berkshire Hockey School in Easthampton, Mass. He began his professional career as Assistant Commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference in 1978, a post he held through 1982.

Petrovek received both his bachelor's (1977) and master's degrees (1980) from Harvard University, where he earned All-America honors as a goaltender in 1975 and was twice named to the All-Ivy League Team. In October 1998, he was inducted into the Harvard University Athletic Hall of Fame.

Petrovek, who played youth hockey in the greater New England area, was one of four goaltenders invited to the final U.S. Olympic Team Trials Camp in 1976. He was drafted by both the Los Angeles Kings of the National Hockey League and the Edmonton Oilers of the World Hockey Association in 1975.

Petrovek and his wife, Sara, reside in Colorado Springs and are the parents of two daughters and one son: Ginny, Ana and Steven.

senior director, international administration ART BERGLUND

Art Berglund's involvement with international ice hockey competition spans portions of five decades, during which time he has managed more than 20 United States teams in a variety of tournaments worldwide.

Berglund served as USA Hockey's director of national teams international activities for 11 years before being named senior director, international administration in 1996. Berglund's start in international ice hockey came soon after his graduation from Colorado College in 1963, where he was the leading scorer for the Tigers during his senior season. After a brief professional playing stint in Switzerland and Austria, Berglund was hired by the legendary Wm. Thayer Tutt to work at the Broadmoor World Arena in Colorado Springs, Colo, Tutt was instrumental in bringing the first Soviet teams to the United States for international competition, and Berglund was their host.

Berglund went on to manage the Broadmoor World Arena for 13 years and, during that time, served USA Hockey in a variety of capacities. He managed the 1973, 1974 and 1975 U.S. National Teams before accepting his first Olympic assignment as general manager of the 1976 U.S. Olympic Team.

Moving to the National Hockey League during parts of the 1970's and '80s, Berglund was enlisted by the St. Louis Blues as a USA Scout, and as Director of Player Recruitment by the Colorado Rockies. In 1977, Berglund was named general manager of the first U.S. National Junior Team. It was a position he would hold again with the 1981, 1986, 1987, 1989, 1990, 1991 and 1992 U.S. entries in the International Ice Hockey Federation World Junior Championship.

The 1980's and 90's were full of senior-level international assignments, as well. Berglund handled general manager duties with the 1985, 1986, 1987, 1989, 1990 and 1991 U.S. National Teams, along with the 1988 U.S. Olympic Team. Berglund was also assistant general manager for the 1981 and 1991 U.S. Canada Cup Teams and the 1983 U.S. National Team. He chaired the 1984 U.S. Olympic Player Selection Committee and was director of player personnel for the 1992 and 1994 U.S. Olympic Teams.

In 1990, Berglund served as chairman of the ice hockey competition for the eightnation Goodwill Games in Seattle, Wash., where Team USA won the silver medal. He also oversaw the organization of the 1996 U.S. National Team that captured the bronze medal at the 1996 IIHF World Championship in Vienna, Austria. Most recently, Berglund was general manager of the 1998 United States Select Team, which finished in first place at the IIHF A-Pool World Championship Qualification Tournament in Klagenfurt, Austria.

A 1992 recipient of the National Hockey League's Lester Patrick Award for outstanding contributions to the sport of ice hockey in America, Berglund resides in Colorado Springs, Colo., with his wife, Char.

head coach BEN SMITH

On June 3, 1996, USA Hockey named Ben Smith as the first full-time head coach of the U.S. Women's National and Olympic Teams. It paid off Feb. 17, 1998, when Smith guided the 1998 U.S. Olympic Women's Ice Hockey Team to the historic Olympic gold medal in Nagano, Japan. The team's 6-0-0 run at the Olympics and 3-1 gold-medal game victory against Canada came after a 32-game pre-Olympic tour during which Team USA posted a 24-7-1 mark.

Smith and the 1998 U.S. Olympic Women's Ice Hockey Team have earned numerous honors since their triumph in Nagano. At the 1998 USA Hockey Annual Congress, Smith received the 1998 Jofa Titan/USA Hockey Distinguished Achievement Award and the team was honored with the 1998 Bob Johnson Award, presented by Bauer, for excellence in international competition. In the fall, Smith was named the 1998 United States Olympic Committee (USOC) Coach of the Year and the team earned 1998 USOC Team of the Year honors. In March 1999, the U.S. Olympic Women's Ice Hockey Team received the Lester Patrick Award, one of hockey's highest honors, for outstanding service to hockey in the United States.

Smith's international coaching experience is lengthy and varied. Since taking over the reins of the women's program, he has guided U.S. Women's Select Teams to a silver medal at the 1996 Three Nations Cup in Ottawa, Ontario and a first-place finish at the 1997 Friendship Cup in Harbin, China. He coached the 1997 U.S. Women's National Team to a silver medal at the IIHF Women's World Championship in Kitchener, Ontario and the 1999 U.S. Women's National Team to a silver medal at the Women's World Championship in Finland.

On the men's side, Smith also served as an assistant coach for three straight U.S.

National Junior Teams (1985, 1986 and 1987), helping guide the 1986 team to the USA's first-ever bronze medal at the IIHF World Junior Hockey Championship. In addition, he has twice served on the coaching staff for the U.S. Men's National Team (1987, 1990), and served as an assistant coach for the 1988 U.S. Olympic Ice Hockey Team. Smith's most recent men's assignment was as head coach of the 1998 U.S. Select Team. The team posted a 3-0-0 record at the IIHF A-Pool World Championship Qualification Tournament in Klagenfurt, Austria to qualify for the 1999 IIHF A-Pool World Championship.

Most recently, he served as head coach of the 1999-2000 U.S. Women's Select Team, which trained and competed from November through April, marking the first time a U.S. women's national-level team was together for such an extended period of time in a non-Olympic timeframe. He led the squad to a 16-4-0 record during the 1999-2000 season, including a first-place finish at the Holiday Tournament, held Dec. 27-Jan. 2 in Lake Placid, N.Y., and a second place finish at the 1999 Three Nations Cup, held Nov. 28-Dec. 5 in Montreal, Quebec.

A 1968 graduate of Harvard University, Smith spent nine seasons (1981-90) as the top assistant at Boston University. In 1991, Smith accepted the reins of the Northeastern University program and guided his teams to a five-year record of 70-92-18 and an appearance in the 1993-94 NCAA Tournament.

Smith also spent five years as an assistant coach at Yale University (1976-81) under the direction of 1994 U.S. Olympic Team Head Coach Tim Taylor. Previously, Smith was an assistant coach at the University of Massachusetts-Amherst and served as head coach at his alma mater, Gloucester High School.

assistant coach COLLEEN COYNE

the IIHF Women's World Championship (1992, 1994 and 1997), tallying 12 points (3-9) in 15 career World Championship games. She was also a member of the 1995 and 1996 U.S. Women's Select Teams that captured silver medals at the IIHF Pacific Women's Hockey Championship. She has also competed in three Three Nations Cups (1996, 1997 and 1998).

Coyne played college hockey at the University of New Hampshire from 1989-93 and finished her career with 66 points (22-44) in 88 games. She served as team captain her senior season and garnered All-Eastern College Athletic Conference honors. She also served as an assistant coach with the Wildcats during the 1993-94 season.

Coyne, 28, resides in Marblehead, Mass.

A veteran of the U.S. women's program as a player, Colleen Coyne is making her first appearance behind the bench with a U.S. Women's National Team, having previously played as a defenseman in the 1992, 1994 and 1997 World Championships. She made her U.S. coaching debut as an assistant coach for the 1999-2000 U.S. Women's Select Team.

A member of the gold-medal winning 1998 U.S. Olympic Women's Ice Hockey Team, Coyne appeared in all six games at the XVIII Olympic Winter Games in Nagano, Japan. She also saw action in 26 pre-Olympic tour games and was part of a defensive corps that held opponents to a 1.66 goals-against average during the tour.

Coyne appeared on three U.S. Women's National Teams that competed at

assistant coach DAVID QUINN

An assistant coach for the University of Nebraska-Omaha, Quinn helped establish the school's first men's Division I ice hockey program, joining the Mavericks prior to the team's inaugural season in 1996-97. He had previously served as the top assistant at Northeastern University from 1993-96.

Quinn is making his second appearance with a U.S. Women's National Team, having served as an assistant coach for last year's squad which won a silver medal at the 1999 IIHF Women's World Championship in Finland.

He has been involved with the USA Hockey coaching ranks since 1995, when he served as a member of the coaching staff for the 1996 U.S. Women's Select Camp and for an exhibition series with Sweden that followed the camp. Quinn also served as a coach at the 1996 U.S. National 17 Camp and the 1995 U.S. National 16 Camp.

As a player, Quinn was a member of the U.S. National Junior Team that captured a bronze medal at the 1986 IIHF World Junior Championship, and was a candidate for the 1988 U.S. Olympic Men's Ice Hockey Team.

Quinn played college hockey at Boston University from 1985-87 and twice earned All-New England honors as a defenseman. He also earned All-Hockey East honors during the 1986-87 campaign.

Lord Stanley of Preston, Canada's sixth governor general and namesake of the Stanley Cup, supervises the flooding of a large lawn on the grounds of Government House. Lord and Lady Stanley and their children, including two daughters, spend many hours on the rink playing hockey.

1890

Isobel Preston, daughter of Lord Preston, is photographed playing hockey at Rideau Hall. It is earliest known image on film of women involved in a game of ice hockey.

1891

The first newspaper account of a game between two unnamed women's teams appears in the Ottawa Citizen on Feb. 11. The game, which was played in Ottawa, Ontario, is now regarded as the start of women's ice hockey.

1892

What was originally thought to be the first organized and recorded all-female ice hockey game is played in Barrie, Ontario. Research reveals a description of just one game in that community during that year, and that the game actually featured women playing men dressed as women.

1920s

College teams are forming in both the United States and Canada.

1940s-50s

World War II slows the growth of the women's game as many women turn their attention to working and supporting their families. The growth of men's professional hockey and the increased demand for ice time also hurt the women's game.

1970s

Teams are forming in Sweden, Finland, Japan, China, Korea, Norway, Germany and Switzerland. Canadian provincial and college organizations begin operation. U.S. college varsity and club teams form in the Midwest and East, while participation by girls in youth hockey rises. Special chest pad and pelvic protector gear is designed for women.

Early 1980s

The Amateur Hockey Association of the United States (now known as USA Hockey) hosts the first National Championships for girls' and women's divisions.

1984

Providence College wins the inaugural Eastern College Athletic Conference Women's Championship.

1987

The first Women's World Invitational Tournament is held in North York and Mississauga, Ontario, with teams representing Canada, Ontario, the U.S., Sweden, Switzerland, Holland and Japan competing. The U.S. defeats Sweden, 5-0, for the bronze medal. Groups lobby the International Ice Hockey Federation for the creation of a Women's World Championship.

1989

The IIHF president attends the European Women's Championship, and plans are drawn for future IIHF Women's World Championships.

1990

The first IIHF Women's World Championship is held in Ottawa, Canada. In the championship game, the U.S. takes an early 2-0 lead before Canada roars back for a 5-2 victory and the gold medal. Finland defeats Sweden, 6-3, for the bronze medal. Bodychecking is allowed but becomes illegal in future Women's World Championships.

1992

The second IIHF Women's World Championship is held in Tampere, Finland. Canada defeats the U.S., 8-0, to repeat as the gold medalist and Finland once again captures the bronze medal.

1992

On Nov. 17, the International Olympic Committee announces that it will include women's ice hockey as a full medal sport beginning in 2002. The IOC gives the organizers of the 1994 Games in Lillehammer, Norway, and the 1998 Games in Nagano, Japan, the option of including women's ice hockey on their programs. Norway declines but Japan accepts and will showcase women's ice hockey in its debut.

The third IIHF Women's World Championship is held in Lake Placid, N.Y. The finish is a familiar one as Canada emerges with a 6-3 victory against the U.S. for a third consecutive gold medal. Finland defeats China, 8-1, to finish third once again.

Minnesota becomes the first state in the U.S. to sanction girls' ice hockey as a high school varsity sport.

1995

The inaugural IIHF Pacific Women's Hockey Championship, featuring the U.S., Canada, China and Japan, is held in San Jose, Calif. Canada edges the U.S. in an overtime shootout to earn the gold medal.

1996

Vancouver, British Columbia serves as host for the 1996 IIHF Pacific Women's Hockey Championship, where Canada earns its second straight gold medal by defeating the United States.

On June 3, Ben Smith of Gloucester, Mass., is named the first-ever head coach of the U.S. Olympic Women's Ice Hockey Team.

The United States extends Canada to overtime before falling, 4-3, in the gold medal game of the fourth IIHF Women's World Championship in Kitchener, Ontario. Finland adds a fourth bronze medal to its cache by defeating China, 3-0.

In December, the U.S. defeats Canada, 3-0, in the championship game of the 1997 Three Nations Cup in Lake Placid, N.Y. It marks the first time Canada has ever been held scoreless and is also Team USA's first gold medal in international competition.

Canada, the U.S., Finland, China, Sweden and host nation Japan make up the field of six teams that compete at the 1998 Olympic Winter Games as women's ice hockey makes its debut in the Olympics. History is made on Feb. 17 when Team USA defeats Canada, 3-1, to earn the first Olympic gold medal ever awarded in women's ice hockey. Gretchen Ulion, Shelley Looney and Sandra Whyte score for the U.S.

The first-ever Patty Kazmaier Memorial Award, recognizing the nation's top women's intercollegiate varsity ice hockey player, is awarded in Boston to University of New Hampshire forward Brandy Fisher.

The University of New Hampshire defeats Brown University, 4-1, at Boston's FleetCenter to capture the first American Women's College Hockey Alliance Division I National Championship.

In March the 1999 U.S. Women's National Team falls to Canada, 3-1, in the gold medal game of the IIHF Women's World Championship for the fifth time.

A.J. Mleczko recieves The 1999 Patty Kazmaier Memorial Award as the nation's top women's intercollegiate Division I ice hockey player. She enjoys the most prolific scoring season in the history of women's intercollegiate varsity ice hockey in 1998-99 with 114 points (37-77) in 34 games and in the process broke Harvard's all-time singleseason and career scoring record for men or women. She also leads Harvard University to the 1999 American Women's College Hockey Alliance Division I National Championship.

Ali Brewer is named The 2000 Patty Kazmaier Memorial Award recipient. She posted a 1.33 goals-against average and a .942 save percentage, ranking her among the nation's best. The Ivy League Co-Player of the Year finished her career as Brown's all-time leader in save percentage, saves, wins and shutouts.
